DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the spring for the door button as set forth in claims 3,8,9,13,14 and the detacher arm entering the detacher arm chamber (instead of pushing the door button 3 into the clip 16 as set forth in the specification paragraph 46) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Art Unit: 3676

Claim Objections

2. Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: in line 3, after "will" insert –be--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The recitation of the door button 3 as being the structure which guides a pick away from the chamber and into the dead-end cavity 5 is incorrect. In fact, it is the locking arm 2/6 which guides the pick away from the chamber and into the dead-end cavity 5 (for example, see figures 4,8, and in the specification, paragraphs 34-35,38,47). Claims 1,4,5,6,10,11,15 especially, set forth language which provides this limitation. Additionally, it is noted that the specification is inconsistent as it recites both that the door 3 guides the pick away (in the Abstract) and that the locking arm 2/6 guides the pick away (paragraphs 34-35,8,47, for example). Furthermore, the specification is inconsistent with the drawings which clearly show that the detacher arm 13 engages the door 3 and pushes it into contact with the clip 16, but does not enter the chamber 12, as recited in claim 6 and 11 (see figure 3A). Accordingly, the scope of the claims cannot be ascertained.

4. Claims 6,10,11,15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 6 and 11, line 2, there is no antecedent basis for "the lock", "the anti-tag", and "in a detacher arm chamber" should be changed to —within a detacher arm chamber—. In claims 10 and 15, line 2, "it" is indefinite and lacks proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Hogan et al 6,373,390. Hogan et al teach a theft deterrent tag device comprising a clip member to engage a post member, and further providing a spring metal locking arm 66 and shield assembly 54 for blocking the detacher arm pathway, wherein the locking arm

66 has a locked and unlocked position. It is noted that the "spring" recitation is inherently met by the spring metal locking arm 66.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nguyen et al 6,535,130 or Sayegh et al 2003/0222780 in view of Yamamoto et al 5,946,957.

Nguyen et al and Sayegh et al both teach a theft deterrent tag device comprising a clip member to engage a post member, and further providing a shield assembly (108; 60 respectively) for blocking the detacher arm pathway. Both fail to provide a spring biased locking arm to block the pathway. Yamamoto et al teach a well known keyway cover means comprising a spring biased locking arm having a locked and unlocked position. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the shield or barrier members of either Nguyen or Sayegh by substituting a spring biased locking arm as taught by Yamamoto et al to provide enhanced security against unauthorized keys.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

In view of Applicant's amendments which brought to light inconsistencies in the specification, drawings and claims, the scope of the claims cannot be ascertained. Accordingly, the prior art of record is applied against the claims as best understood.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
